Five Seek 1-Year Term

Five candidates have taken out papers seeking a one-year term on the Board of Selectmen following the resignation of Selectman John Bullock Friday. So far, the only question on the ballot has to do with changing the town's name.

Candidates wishing to run for office at the town election March 2 must take out nomination papers by 5 p.m. today. Papers must be filed with the office of the Registrar of Voters by 5 p.m., Monday.

Taking out papers for the one-year Selectmen's term since Friday are Ronald A. Nigro, 115 Ronald rd.; Arthur J. Loud, 166 Brooks ave.; Robert B. Walsh, 101 Dow ave.; William W. Doe, 105 Cutter Hill rd.; and Robert H. Murray, 73 Beacon st.

In addition, a fifth candidate has taken out papers for a three-year term on the School Committee. He is Eugene P. McCarthy, 31 Governor rd.

Alexander B. Wilson, 154 Pheasant ave.; and incumbents William A. Carey, Jr., 118 Lowell st.; Doris M. Cremens, 64 Mt. Vernon st.; and Dorothea W. Stein, 41 Jason st., had previously taken out papers for School Committee.

There is only one candidate for a three-year term as Town Moderator, incumbent Lawrence E. Corcoran, and only one, incumbent Arthur D. Saul, Jr., for a three-year term on the Board of Selectmen.

Two candidates seek one three-year term on the Board of Assessors, incumbent Paul E. Cantrell, 3 Stevens terr., and Daniel A. Purcell, 90 Stowcroft rd.

Two are also seeking one three-year term on the Housing Authority, incumbent John J. Hogan, 19 Ivy circle, and Leo B. Byrne, 31 Franklin st.

Arlington voters will be requested to vote on at least one question which will appear on the ballot March 2.

The question is whether the name of the Town of Arlington shall be changed to Menotomy. If the voters vote such a change it would take effect on April 19, 1976.

The act to place this question on the Ballot was passed by the Senate and the House of Representatives and signed on Aug. 13, 1973, and signed by the Governor on Aug. 24.

The committee to study the changing the name of the town to Menotomy recommended to Town Meeting last year that it be placed on the ballot, so that residents could indicate their feelings.

The original intention was to get the sentiment of the voters on whether to change the name or not, and then if the voters favored the change, the matter would go back to the legislature.

However, when it got back to the Local Affairs Committee last summer, that group did not want to receive it twice and set a date for the name change to take effect. An effort to have a name change take effect immediately was changed to the 1976 date.

Competition for Town Meeting seats picked up markedly during the week. A week ago there were 62 candidates for 84 three-year spots. This week there are 103 candidates.

Last week there were three candidates for six two-year vacancies. This week there are seven candidates. A week ago there were three candidates for one-year vacancies. This week there are seven candidates for 14 vacancies.

This week only in Precincts 14 and 18 were there not enough candidates for the four seats for three years. Only three candidates had taken out papers in these two precincts.

There are five candidates for the four seats for three-year terms in Precincts 2, 5, 6, 10, 12, 16, 17, 19, and 21.

There are six candidates in Precincts 7, 11, 13, 15, and eight candidates in Precinct 8. There is at least one candidate for two-year terms in six of the eight precincts where there are vacancies.

Only in Precinct 3, where there are two candidates, are there more than one seeking one seat. There are no candidates in Precincts 17 and 18.

There are one-year vacancies in 11 precincts. Five of these, Precincts 1, 4, 9, 14 and 17, have no candidates. None have more candidates than vacancies.

Not Many

Town Clerk Mary Farrington notes that fewer candidates, represented by papers on the left, have taken out papers than in the past, the pile on the right. Since Friday political activity has picked up. (Staff Photo by Eric Weiss)

Four Articles

Chiefs Seek Meeting Support

Four warrant articles submitted for the Police and Fire Depts. were reviewed at last week's Town Meeting Assn. meeting by the chiefs who asked for their support.

Police Chief Fred Lucarelli discussed requested by-law amendments for regulation of peddlers and drinking. He listed regulations which would be suggested to the board of selectmen for implementation if the peddler amendment passes town meeting. These include such things as:

Requiring a license from the state; peddlers reporting in person to the police chief to show the license; not allowing vehicles to stand in one spot more than 10 minutes unless a sale is being transacted; limiting sales within 50 yards of schools, parks, cemeteries and other designated spots; regulating hours of sale before 8 a.m. and after 9 p.m.; making the peddler responsible for debris in his area; and regulating noise from bells and other mechanical devices.

The second amendment the police seek is one to prohibit drinking of alcoholic beverages by persons while on public ways, parks, playgrounds and other areas without consent of the owner.

Lucarelli said this amendment would better enable the police to cope with calls they get about youths drinking. Presently the police are limited in making arrests he said. With the amendment arrests could be made without warrants, the alcohol would be confiscated and fines of not over $50 could be imposed by the court.

In answer to questions, Lucarelli said the amendment on peddlers and hawkers would not limit door to door soliciting. These people are already supposed to be licensed by the police, but he noted this licensing does not mean the police endorse their product.

Lucarelli said one of the greatest complaints is from papers left around after an ice cream truck has sold ice cream. Under the new by-law the ice cream vendor would be responsible for the trash.

The police also get complaints about vendors parking along the streets. The change would not permit this any longer. Bells could be rung, Lucarelli said, unless there were complaints about the noise.

Chief Robert Blomquist said the Fire Department seeks an amendment to the by-laws to regulate parking on private ways where the town now has no authority.

He said there are three specific properties on which the department wants to make a fire lane which will remain clear of parked cars so that fire apparatus can get to buildings in case of emergencies. These properties are the Hamilton Apartments, the Stop and Shop where there is no clear access to the front of the building, and Benjamin-road which gives access to Otton Junior High School.

The second item which the Fire Department seeks support for is the budget item for $110,000 for a 100 foot aerial truck to replace the 1952 65-foot Ladder 2 for the Heights.

Chief Blomquist said the truck will cost about $15,000 more than ordinary because it has to be more customized than is usual in order to fit in the Highland station. A study ordered by town meeting showed that renovation costs of the building would be expensive, he said. In addition, there will be some innovations on the truck.

Chief Blomquist said the present aerial truck cannot now protect its territory. Because of the angle at which ladders are set up, it can't reach third floors of apartment buildings.

This new piece of equipment was scheduled in several years ago and has been approved by the Capital Budget Committee. The order will be ready July 1, and the chief said delivery would then be 15 or 16 months away. Had the truck been bought in 1970 its cost would have been $70,000 he said, pointing out how rapidly costs are rising.

The chief said the town needs two aerial ladders. Standards are that there should be one aerial truck for every five buildings of more than three stories. If Arlington's land area were larger, the chief said the town would need more engines.

The truck which will be replaced is operating with a rebuilt engine, he said. It was out of service for four months when the engine went two years ago. Since it is 22 years old parts are no longer available.

Family Nt. Fun Starts Friday

Family Night Fun sponsored by the Recreation Department will begin this Friday at four locations. The Stratton, Dallin, Thompson and Freshman Gym at the High School will be open from 6:30-9:30 p.m. for all families in the community. The object of the program is to get families doing things together.

Different activities will be available under qualified supervision. Four physical education instructors will head the program and provide both organized and free activity. The program is free and families may come at any Friday night from Jan. 25 to late March.

Programs Mandated

School Budget 12.5 Million But Still Being Worked On

The Arlington School Department budget is at $12,588,139 and is still being worked on. It started at $12,991,300 and has been reduced about 4 percent according to Asst. Supt. Richard Connolly.

As was the case last year, programs mandated by the state and fuel costs are a big chunk of the increase, plus this year's higher utility and materials costs.

School Committee chairman William Carey told the Town Meeting Assn. (TMA) that if it were not for the state-mandated programs there would be a significant decrease in staff. The budget reflects, he said, the impact of the energy crisis, inflation and mandated programs and does not include one new program.

Because of the costs of state-mandated programs Carey said the School Committee plans to file a warrant article asking that the legislature not pass any more mandated programs without also providing the funding.

Right now the budget is up $1,612,000. What percentage this is in increase over last year's cannot be determined, says Connolly, because last year's 18-month budget was so constructed that a comparable comparison cannot be made. Last year's increase of 8 percent was the smallest in recent years according to Carey.

Of this increase, which is still being refined, $450,000 is for the 5.5 percent teacher raises which were voted last year. Connolly explains that last year the teachers accepted a two-year contract giving raises of 3.5 and 5.5 percent.

When the fiscal year was January to December the school budget only showed the September to December portion of a raise plus step increases for a calendar year.

Now with the July through June year a budget shows the fall portion, as well as the remainder of the school year. And last year was complicated with an 18-month budget which went through this June and left the question of the summer salaries hanging.

Towns chose different options for budgeting these summer salaries. What Arlington did, Connolly explains, was to put 60 percent in the budget last year and 40 percent in this year's budget.

So the new Arlington budget includes two-thirds of the 5.5 percent raises and the full impact of the 5.5 percent raise which goes into effect in September - or $450,000 for the 5.5 percent raises, $195,000 for the remainder of the 3.5 raises and $220,000 for the summer salaries.

Salaries traditionally are about 85 percent of the school budget. Not included in the salary figures yet, however, are raises for administrators, cafeteria, clerical, transportation and other nonteaching departments.

The impact of Ch. 766 which mandates a special education program is not clear, says Connolly, because it is not known if the state will provide any funding for tuition and transportation. The staff for this program Carey reported was $140,000.

Supt. of Schools William T. Gibbs spoke briefly about the mandated programs to the TMA. Under the new law all towns must provide individually-tailored programs for all special needs children. If programs are not available locally the towns must pay transportation and tuition for out-of-town programs.

Gibbs said that at a recent superintendents' meeting it was reported that for area towns the costs of this program starts at a quarter of a million dollars. Arlington has found 85 new students with special needs enrolled in private and state programs, he said.

Gibbs said much work with special needs children was done here already, and the motives for the legislation are good, but state school personnel are finding the mandated program is expensive and difficult to budget since it is not known if the state will help pay for transportation and tuition.

Arlington staffing in general is up a net of $65,000. The department is phasing out 14 positions because of decreased enrollment, but because of the mandated special education and physical education and the new learning resource centers at the junior high schools is adding staff.

The new staff members include teachers in remedial reading, a coordinator for English as a second language, staff for the renovated junior highs, and physical education and media specialists. For the special ed program there are new psychologists, social workers and other staffers. All told there are 18 additional full time spots and five that went from part to full time.

The mandated lunch program is not costing the system any more this year. The initial expense was last year with purchase of equipment, and the state paid 75 percent of those costs, leaving Arlington to pay $57,000.

The athletic budget is up $50,000 Connolly reports, and a good deal of this increase is traced to a mandate to provide equal programs for girls under Ch. 622.

The budget for materials and supplies will increase $125,000. The school department has been particularly affected by increasing costs and shortages of paper and other supplies.

The fuel budget has about doubled from last year and is now up $171,000. Fuel costs have gone from $4.25 to about $16 a barrel. The schools budgeted $175,000 for "fuel last year according to Connolly.

Additional maintenance and custodial staff will cost $22,000 more this year. These costs come primarily from the renovated junior highs.

Utilities are expected to be up another $45,000, reflecting rate increases for telephone, electricity and other services.

The remainder of the $129,000 increase in the school budget after these particular items are accounted for is attributed to step increases and capital items, according to Carey, including a $32,000 roof at the Peirce.

No Closed Stations Have Forgotten Gas

Arlington will not be discovering gasoline stored in unused tanks, as recently happened in Saugus, according to Fire Chief Robert Blomquist.

The chief says three gas stations closed in Arlington during the past year, and all have been checked by his department.

The tanks at the closed station at Summer and Mill streets were removed three months ago, according to the chief.

The tanks are still in the ground at the former Hilo station at Thorndike st. and Mass. ave. and the town is using them for storage of 6,000 gallons of fuel for town vehicles with the cooperation of the owner. The storage license here has been changed for private use.

The third closed station, the Getty at Mass. ave. and Richardson, still has its tanks, says the chief, and the department is working with the owners to have them removed. He says there is no gasoline stored in the tanks to the best of his knowledge.

New England Contest

The Advocate Receives Four Prizes

PRIZE WINNER - This picture of a burning car which appeared in The Advocate in July received second prize for the best spot news photograph in recent New England Press Assn. competition.

Prize

Advocate Advertising Manager Isabel Cook shows Joel Berman the first place plaque for local black and white advertisement which The Advocate received for a Berman's Liquors ad in New England Press Assn. competition.

The Arlington Advocate won four prizes in competition sponsored by the New England Press Assn. Prizes were awarded this past weekend at the 25th annual Winter Convention of New England Press.

First prize for best black and white local advertisement was awarded to The Advocate for an advertisement for Berman's Liquors which appeared in The Advocate Centennial.

The ad featured an old-fashioned pump and the line "When water alone is not enough." Metro Associated Services awarded a plaque for the prize.

The editorial which appeared in December of 1972 about a meeting three selectmen had with the town manager and an effort to influence the manager's recommendations on Police Department reorganization received second prize for best editorial.

The judges said that the editorial carried great impact, especially with the related pictures and stories. "The editorial was strong and carried significant and important news to the community...it was well composed and carried out detailed activities of the three selectmen...it could not help but have great impact in the community," said the judges. The editorial was awarded 89 out of 100 points.

A second prize was awarded for spot news photograph to C. Peter Jorgensen for a picture showing firefighters about to hose down a burning car.

The Advocate Centennial edition published in September of 1972 received an honorable mention in the category for supplements or special sections.

The Winchester Star, a subsidiary of Century Publications which publishes The Advocate, received three photography prizes and a second place for best editorial page in the annual competition.

Publisher C. Peter Jorgensen led a workshop on editorial practices during the convention. He was also elected a vice president of the Mass. Press Assn. and was elected to the board of directors of New England Press Assn.

Advocate editor Kathryn Jorgensen was moderator of a panel on cooperative education for journalism students. Century Publications controller Jason W. Dade participated on a panel on business practices.

Last year The Advocate received three prizes in national competition sponsored by the National Newspaper Assn. and Suburban Newspapers of America.

Saigon Librarian On Visit

The Robbins Library welcomed Mrs. Luu Chieu Ha, a librarian from Saigon, Vietnam, recently. She was escorted by Jan Kerhulas of the International Marketing Institute. Mrs. Ha was welcomed by Judith E. Stomdahl, Robbins Library Director, and taken on a tour of various departments by Assistant Librarian Elizabeth J. Hodges.

Mrs. Ha is visiting the United States on a foreign visitors program of the Agency for International Development of the United States Department of State. At present she is working on coordinating information at the Cambridge office of the International Marketing Institute in connection with their trade information center in Guatemala. In Saigon, Mrs. Ha is employed in the Export Development Center of the Ministry of Economy.

In 1955 she came from Hanoi, where she taught French at Sainte Marie School, to Saigon where she taught French at St. Paul's School. In 1967 she was working as an assistant to an American librarian in a Library Development Activity Program of AID in Saigon.

Mrs. Ha translated American books on library science, catalogued books and helped in a three week basic teacher training library program, using the Dewey system of classification. (Now there are library science courses at the Pedagogical Institute.)

It was in 1972 that Mrs. Ha went to work in the Export Development Center. Since September and before coming to Cambridge she was studying at the Case Western Reserve University School of Information Science, where she specialized in the area of computerized information. She also worked in the Cleveland Public Library.

Jan Kerhulas, who is an Arlington citizen, is employed by the International Marketing Institute.

Personnel Board Seeks Support Of Articles

The Personnel Board will seek town meeting support for three classifications as well as study of a new pay and classification plan, chairman Rudolph Kass told the Town Meeting Assn.

Kass said the role of his board is not to arbitrate but to adjust inequities. This year it received 20 requests for reclassification and recommends action on three.

He said the classification plan is out of kilter, but when it is tinkered with another group is misclassified.

Kass urged support for study by an outside firm of the present plan. He said town employees are suffering under the present plan and are discontent with it. He said the board felt it was better not to make a lot of changes if the whole plan would be restudied.

The three changes being recommended because it was felt severe injustice existed, he said. One is for the Public Works foreman to be moved up. This is justified, Kass said, because of the irritation factor, their adjustments to emergencies, dealing with the public and other factors which makes it a job which requires some executive effort. Ten men are involved.

The second job which the board wants to raise is compressor operator. Twenty-five cents an hour more is being asked for three men. He said the job "takes it out of the men" who presently get a 10 cents differential.

The third reclassification sought is for motor equipment operators. Kass said the 32 men involved have Class II licenses, are responsible for big machinery and are classified below the school department's bus drivers.

103 Articles

Town Meeting members will act on an unofficial number of 103 articles when the Annual Town Meeting opens in mid-March.

The articles were being processed in the office of the Board of Selectmen as The Advocate went to press.

The closing date for submitting articles was Monday night at 7:15 p.m.

Sr. Citizen-Cartooning

On Monday at 2 p.m. at Jarvis House, Chester Zucker will present a follow-up session on cartooning to seniors. People who did not attend the first session are welcome.

Site Committee Delays Decision On Yard

The Town Yard Site Selection Committee decided last week to put off a final recommendation on the new site for the yard until the fall.

According to Robert McLaughlin, chairman of the committee, the board felt there was substantial doubt what the best use of Reed's Brook (Summer St.) would be from the town's point of view.

The Redevelopment Board in the past has been interested in developing the area, and recently received a report which says the site is buildable. An out-of-state developer is also looking at the site.

McLaughlin said the article to transfer present town yard land to the school committee at a future date hopefully will satisfy the state that the town is moving in the right direction with school building plans.

By putting off a final decision on relocating the yard McLaughlin says his committee can spend time with the Redevelopment Board and find out the future of Reed's Brook.

The committee is making three recommendations: one, to enlarge the nine-member group to include the chairman of the Park and Recreation Commission and a resident of the Hill's Hill area, which is considered to be the most viable alternative to Reed's Brook, according to McLaughlin.

Two, an appropriation to support more study of the site.

Three, clarification of the motion which passed the last town meeting setting up membership of the committee. At that time it was specified that chairmen of particular committees serve on the site selection group. If the committee stays in business longer, chairmanships will change, and McLaughlin says they are concerned with continuity.

At last week's meeting the committee received some reports on straight capital expenditures. McLaughlin said preliminary construction costs on Hill's Hill, which is town-owned land, weighed against less expensive construction on Summer Street, but land acquisition costs, result in costs being about the same. Another consideration is that if the town uses Hill's Hill some open space is lost McLaughlin says.

Menotomy Stamp Still Alive

A postage stamp commemorating the April 19, 1775, fighting in Menotomy is still under consideration by the United States Postal Service, according to an official in Washington.

Mary Margaret Jamieson, coordinator of the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, said that while the stamp has not been recommended to date, it is still on the committee's agenda "for consideration as Bicentennial issues are reviewed for 1975."

She made her comments in a letter to Gerard J. Gagnon, 16 Irving St., who had proposed the commemorative stamp to the Postal Service in November, 1972.

The postal official pointed out that "the selection of Bicentennial subjects is very difficult as we have received so many—all of which are significant and pertinent to that era."

"You may be assured," she wrote Gagnon, "that your request for Menotomy will be given close attention and every consideration."

In his proposal, Gagnon suggested that the U.S. Postal Service consider issuing a series of four stamps in conjunction with the 200th anniversary of the opening of the American Revolution. One stamp would honor Lexington, another Concord, a third Menotomy, and a fourth commemorate the historic ride of Paul Revere.

Gagnon told the Postal Service that while the epic events of April 19, 1775, are often called "The Battle of Lexington and Concord," it was in Menotomy that the most ferocious, bloodiest fighting occurred during the opening of the Revolution.

He cited a 1958 report to Congress which noted that more men were killed in Menotomy "on both sides than in any other town. At least 40 of the British succumbed, more than half of their fatalities of 73 for the day, while 25 of the 49 Americans who lost their lives fell in the town."

The report noted that in Menotomy more than 1700 men from at least 35 companies of Minutemen and Militia swelled the American forces attacking the British. They had rushed to Menotomy from Watertown, Medford, Malden, Roxbury, Brookline and as far away as Dedham, Needham, Lynn, Beverly and Danvers.

According to the report, "the bloodiest encounter associated with any house in the Revolution" occurred at the Jason Russell House—the killing of 12 Americans during a close-quarters fight.

Gagnon noted, too, that it was in Menotomy that a group of old men made the first forcible capture of provisions and stores in the Revolution, an attack that helped spell defeat for the Redcoats during the epochal battle of April 19th.

According to Gagnon, the Menotomy stamp proposal has received the endorsement and support of many groups and citizens. These include U.S. Senators Edward W. Brooke and Edward M. Kennedy, Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., the Board of Selectmen, Chamber of Commerce, Bicentennial Planning Committee, Historical Commission, and the Historical Society. In addition, more than 235 persons signed a petition to the Postal Service supporting the proposal.

Redevelopment Bd.

Sets Two Meetings

The Redevelopment Board hopes to schedule a meeting Monday with consultants from Metcalf and Eddy to review a recently completed study on the engineering feasibility of developing Reed's Brook (Summer Street).

The board was told briefly this week that the study concluded that the land could be built on and included data on borings, soil and gases.

On Feb. 4 the board will meet with the Selectmen at 7:45 to discuss policy for the granting of common victuallers licenses. A regular board meeting is also scheduled for that night.

Rash Of Accidents Reported In Week

A rash of accidents were reported in Arlington during the past week as severe winter weather hit the area.

A Ridge street woman was reported in fair condition at Symmes Hospital Wednesday after an accident on that street.

According to Arlington police an auto operated by Beverly P. Douhan, 11 Twin circle dr. was in collision with Teresa Camarda, 82 in front of 75 Ridge st. Teresa was taken to Symmes Hospital where she was treated for multiple injuries.

Meanwhile, earlier in the day at 6:17 a.m., a tractor-trailer truck heading easterly on Rte. 2 on the Belmont side, and approximately 700 feet east of the Park ave. overpass jack-knifed. Traffic was tied up for some time on the inbound lane.

According to State Police, the truck had turned to the right to avoid other cars on the icy pavement.

The driver of the vehicle was identified as Anthony DeMarco of Elizabeth, N. J.

Police and rescue vehicles were present from Arlington and Belmont. No injuries were reported according to police.

Meanwhile, a number of accidents have been reported in Arlington since Jan. 16 as some of the worst weather in years hit the area.

On Jan. 16, Maureen O'Connell, 32 Appleton St., was treated at Symmes Hospital after the vehicle she was operating collided with a utility pole in front of 84 Gray St.

Later the same day, Joseph Guardabasso, 170 Newport St., was treated at Symmes Hospital, after a car was in collision with him as he was walking toward his own car in front of 689 Mass. Ave. The driver of the car was identified by police as Joan R. Conklin, 15 Orvis Rd.

On Jan. 17, Andrew Roche, 94 Quincy St., Arlington, was treated at Symmes Hospital after a two-car collision at Broadway and Wyman Sts.

During the period Jan. 16 through 18, accidents were reported on Grove St., in front of 18 Baker Rd., Hemlock and Sumner, Summer and Mill, Park Ave. and Hawthorne, Pleasant St. and Rte. 2, in front of 97 Mystic St., Pleasant St., Mass. Ave. and Tufts St., and in front of 34 Bow St.

Other accidents were reported at Pleasant St. and Addison, another at Summer and Mill Sts., opposite 325 Mass. Ave., Warren and Franklin, in front of 19 Varnum, and on Summer St.

Tapes, Calculator Are Reported Stolen

A calculator and a tape recorder were reported missing from Browning rd., Jan. 18, according to Arlington police, while a battery was reported stolen from a car in a parking lot at 1125 Mass. ave. on the same day.

A tape deck was also reported missing from a car at 111 Broadway, Jan. 15, and two windshield wipers were reported missing on the same day.

Also on Jan. 15 a window was reported broken at 342 Forest st., while on the following day a car was reported stolen from Old Colony lane.

On Jan. 16 a telephone pay station was reported missing from the DAV Hall, 1207 Mass. ave.

A stereo tape and a radio were reported missing from a car at 54 Teel st. on Jan. 20.

School Committee Votes For Changes At Regional School

The Arlington School Committee has voted to seek two enrollment changes at Minuteman Regional Vocational Technical School. One is to admit tenth graders next year, in addition to the scheduled ninth graders, and the other is to increase Arlington's allotment by going back to the original enrollment formula.

The motion to add the tenth-grade was made by Mrs. Dorothea Stein who noted that the estimates of per pupil costs are at $3500 because the enrollment will be limited to 450 ninth graders.

She suggested that costs could be lowered and the program made available to more if another grade were enrolled. As for the argument that a grade a year will be admitted because of the way the curriculum progresses, she noted that the first two years are exploratory and tenth graders would have only a slightly diluted program.

Mrs. Stein told the committee that superintendents from the area schools had made a similar suggestion to the regional school committee before.

The second unanimous vote was taken on a motion to reluctantly accept the present student allocation for each town and insist that an accurate enrollment count be made.

Originally the Minuteman enrollment was supposed to be based on the hometown's public and private school enrollments. This was changed to only public school figures reportedly because accurate enrollments from other schools were not available.

According to William Carey that change means that Arlington's potential enrollment dropped by eight students.

FinCom Article Seeks Flat $800 For Employees

The Finance Committee has put an article into the warrant which would give all town employees an $800 payment for the coming fiscal year.

The pay raise article, which the Town Manager inserted after negotiation with town employees calls for an $800 or 8 percent raise, whichever is greater.

The Finance Committee article, which would also give 40 cents an hour more to regularly employed parttime employees, is intended to be a one-time bonus. Employees covered by Arlington Teachers' Assn. bargaining are excluded and the payment is not to be added to the present pay plan.

Robert F. O'Neill, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, says the committee took this action because the coming year is unstable and because there is an article in the warrant calling for review of the pay and classification plan.

Rather than have the consultants start their review from a high base, the Finance Committee chose to make their recommended $800 apart from the pay plan, thus keeping the current pay plan in effect, O'Neill explains.

Another consideration the Finance Committee took was that the increases in the cost of living particularly affect the lower paid employee. By adding the flat rate the committee felt the employees would be seen through the budget year.

O'Neill says the committee recognizes that a flat rate is not the right way to go and that steps between job levels should be maintained through a pay plan. He says the committee would endorse new study of the pay and classification plan which was set up 10 years ago.

Adding that the cost of food, heat and utilities is the same for the lower paid employee as it is for the higher paid, O'Neill termed the $800 a stop gap measure until a new classification plan is prepared. He said the $800 is not seen as betterment, but as taking care of the necessities until the study.

The Arlington Advocate, Thursday, January 24, 1974

Collins' Corner

by Leonard Collins

Many years back a young fellow came into the Selectmen's meeting and asked that he be appointed Arlington's Dog Officer. This was a new one for the chairman, but there being no such person attending to the needs of our canines, the applicant was given the job. His name was Samuel Femia, and he is now retiring from the position after almost 30 years.

The town has grown and so has the population of dogs, and the past seven years have been busy ones for Sam Femia. It was in 1966 that we voted the leash law, and the town built a home for wandering dogs found running around our streets, and they were locked up awaiting the arrival of their owner who was obliged to pay for their board and room.

At the time of the vote a column appeared here, and the writer has been asked to "play it again," so here goes.

There's a tale that's told that once upon a time in Ireland, the dogs held a convention, and it ended in such confusion that they have been in a state of bewilderment ever since. Well, it seems last Tuesday morning four fine canines were gathered on the Town Hall lawn discussing the Town Meeting held the night before, and they were a sad lot.

The Collie was heartbroken because a new romantic pup had moved into his neighborhood, and he was wondering how he could sneak out for a date. And the Welch Corgi was upset because he couldn't bark at the milk man, letter carrier, the man who reads meters, or anyone who approached the house.

And the Boxer was bemoaning the fact that some neighbors up the street were light eaters, and they threw away some very choice morsels of food that he could snatch every Thursday, which was garbage day on his street. And, he added, "I am very careful not to eat it on their lawn, or my own, but there is a nice yard just around the corner." And the little nondescript Mutt was in tears, because, as he put it, "According to human years I am about 80, and as a lifetime native of Arlington I have personally escorted thousands of kids to and from school, and have never bitten anyone or been apprehended by the Police."

So while the little session was going on the Town Manager and the five Selectmen came out of the hall, so they put their tails between their legs and took off. And as they trotted along the little Mutt was heard to say, "There's few in that group that I doubt could ever catch us." And they all turned around and took a look and agreed unanimously.

The Boxer spoke up and said, "I'm sorry for Mr. Femia who is such a nice man."

"Yes he is," said the Collie. "I was lost one night and he took me down to his kennel in the Goat Acre and returned me to my home the next day, and besides Sam cannot run as fast as he did 30 years ago. I'll say this for him, he sets a fine table with the choicest of meats and delicacies."

So they continued along and stopped for a rest in Menotomy Rocks Park, and sadly looked over the nice recreational center where they had roamed and romped for years. But they all agreed that it was wonderful that they could have an article in the town warrant of their own, and that now they were on an even basis with little babies, because in many apartments neither babies nor dogs are welcomed.

The little nondescript piped up and said his folks moved into an apartment where he was allowed, but no babies. And the Corgi was happy to see so many letters in The Advocate about them. One writer felt it should go to the voters, and that would take the onus from the Town Meeting members. That was a new word for them, but they felt it had something to do with a shaving lotion or a cure for fleas.

So they finally said good bye to one another and they all wished they owned a leash store, because as the Collie said, "There is an angle to everything."

So Sam, after leading a dog's life for all these years stay healthy, and enjoy the nice days ahead.

Snow Removal

TO THE EDITOR:

In frustration, and not to bypass our apparently over-extended manager, I hereby tender my unanswerable questions and a few reasons for the questions.

What has happened to 1. quality of production? 2. pride of accomplishment or workmanship? and 3. respect for others property and rights?

Above question was brought to mind Sat. a.m. Jan. 12th 1974 while walking to work along Mass. ave. from the high school to one of our old time hardware stores in Arlington Center.

I was marveling at our improved mechanization of snow removal and how thoroughly automated it has become. Visibly, in the aftermath of the monsters were areas clean to the pavement interrupted by minor mountains of frozen slush the machines could not "see." The unthinking juggernauts, directly in front of our lovely town hall, had knocked the mail box on its side, and having no hands or brains, could not right it again.

I saw two of the snow spewers that lift the undesirable slush into trucks heading for their "breakfast" at the town yard. One must have been starved as it was traveling at breakneck speed, its rotary teeth lifted high, turning at top speed, and threatening every creature in its path. The second spewer was bouncing sedately along at a conservative speed causing admiration from me at its lack of hunger as its teeth were not even turning, thereby threatening no one. (Was it sick?)

Threading my way between clear sidewalk areas and frozen slush ridges like ocean surfers dream waves, I noted the machines, or their masters, abhor church goers so carefully avoided removal of a large mound of slush at the main entrance to the First Parish Church.

I arrived at my place of employment to find that one of the slush spewers had been sick, or at least had poor direction, as it had deposited an 18" coating of slush on the sidewalk, even splashing up on the front door of the store.

It was very neatly and evenly applied and then allowed to freeze into a smooth glacial form requiring a pick, a strong back, and a stream of abusive invective to break a pedestrian path for customers attempting to purchase necessary manual snow removal equipment.

Twenty years ago for one quarter the cost or less and without automation, a much better job was done.

To recap my original question—has the mechanization of labor taken all of the pride in workmanship out of our lives? Are we masters or slaves to machines?

Friends Of Menotomy

TO THE EDITOR:

Although Menotomy saw the first day of battle for American Independence as well as the birth of "Uncle Sam" Wilson, the historical recognition due our community has been missing for 167 years because the name was changed.

The Friends of Menotomy are working to restore this recognition by building voter support for Menotomy at the March Town Election.

Contributions to finance this effort are badly needed. Checks should be made payable to Friends of Menotomy and sent to the group at P.O. Box 1775, Menotomy, (Arlington), Mass. 02174.

Very truly yours,
Joseph DeCoursey
Acting Treasurer
Friends of Menotomy

Pension Checks

TO THE EDITOR:

In last week's Advocate of January 17 you had a letter signed by a retired pensioner. In the editor's note following the letter your last sentence stated the cost of living for 1974 would be issued in two checks.

For your information and anyone else, especially those who come under the cost of living, they should receive four checks in 1974, one every three months. The Legislature passed a bill, S2021, which states cost of living will be paid quarterly and it was signed by the Governor.

This bill also states it starts in 1974. This information can be verified by calling the Retired State County and Municipal Employee Association of Mass., 11 Beacon St., Boston.

I hope this information will be very helpful to those who are retired and come under the Cost of Living plan.

Yours truly,
Alice A. Malone
70 Gardner st.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We checked with the Retirement Board again and found out that the payments will be sent out quarterly.

Thank Officer

TO THE EDITOR:

I want to thank Officer Carlisle for helping me on Sunday, Jan. 13, 1974. My car stalled on Mass. Avenue near Lake St. In trying to start it again I flooded it. Officer Carlisle stopped, and offered to help me. It was bitter cold and finally the car started and I was able to drive home.

I will always remember the things he told me to do and I am sincerely grateful and I more than appreciate his help.

Sincerely,
E. Gertrude Geary

Open Space Needed

TO THE EDITOR:

Many years ago it was determined that green space, open space, had become sadly reduced in Arlington and that efforts should be made to safeguard the little that remained—for the pleasure and health of all.

Hill's Hill was designated as a winter playground which could also be enjoyed as a picnic and recreation place in fine weather. The terrain is suited to tobogganing and sledding as it is, but a minimum of money needs to be spent to set aside tobogganing areas, sledding areas, safe run offs and returns back up the hill. That is the positive thinking on the use of Hill's Hill.

A suggestion has been made that this steeply sloping area be the location of a new town yard with multi-level buildings at a cost yet to be determined but certainly far more expensive than conventional buildings on a level site.

With the threat of turning over Hurd Field at the Reservoir to a developer (which I heard of for the first time at Thursday night's meeting) we see a further assault on our depleted breathing spaces. We are a tight town geographically and should have learned by now to use our limited space wisely.

Sacrificing needed recreational land and attempting to develop it inappropriately seems entirely unsuitable and definitely not in the best interest of the town either now or in the future.

Commend Program

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to express my sincere congratulations to both the Arlington Civil Rights Committee and its chairwoman, Mrs. Elizabeth Oppedisano, for their outstanding presentation at the High School in commemoration of the birthday of Martin Luther King.

Apparently in many local suburban communities the day passed largely unnoticed. But, thanks to the dedicated efforts of the committee, the expertise of the three speakers — Mr. Coleman, Mr. Fajors, and Dr. Whittaker — and the cooperation of the school administration, the day was fittingly observed here in Arlington.

It was most edifying to be reminded once again, not only of Dr. King himself, but more importantly, perhaps, of the philosophy which he lived and for which he died: non-violent solutions to even our most serious social problems.

Since many of the young people who are at the High School today will be devising the solutions to the problems of tomorrow, the benefit we all reap from this presentation may be far reaching indeed.

Daly Reports

TO THE EDITOR:

In the weeks to come I would like to bring to you, the people of Arlington, what legislation has been passed in the 1973 session of the Massachusetts Legislature. I think that the people of Arlington can be proud of the record of accomplishment of the many new laws that have been passed, and I would also like to have you take note that the defeat of certain proposals is often as important as the passage of others.

We have passed the greatest single balanced transportation aid program in the history of the Commonwealth. Including a $75 million windfall of state funds to be applied directly against local tax rates in cities and towns across the state.

We have passed two of the most important economic assistance laws ever enacted by this Commonwealth: An extension of the Investment Credit Act designed to spur industrial growth, and the Manpower Credit Act aimed at promoting the Creation of new jobs to be filled from the ranks of the unemployed and those on public relief programs.

For the working man and working woman of Massachusetts, we have provided better compensation and protection in case of industrial accidents; we have increased unemployment compensation; we have passed a major collective bargaining bill of rights for public employees; and we have become the first state in the nation to pass legislation aimed at guaranteeing workers that pensions promised them during their working years will be there for them to collect when they retire.

In terms of extending equality of opportunity, we have passed nearly a dozen bills aimed at providing women the same working rights, economic rights and full property rights that men have enjoyed.

We have moved to improve the quality of emergency medical care; we have become one of the few states in the nation providing for the licensing of physicians assistants as a means of extending health-care services; and we have provided a long-overdue cost of living increase in benefits to welfare recipients...some 200,000 of them children innocently victimized by conditions beyond their control.

We took a major step toward guaranteeing the independence and self-sufficiency of our elderly citizens with passage of a Guaranteed Income plan. There will be two quick increases in aid to the elderly, blind and disabled, and then beginning next July they will receive annual cost-of-living increments in their state benefits.

And perhaps in no other area was there so much profound and basic reform as in the political and governmental rules of this Commonwealth.

From one of the nation's best new laws on campaign contributions and expenditures, to a stringent new reporting law on lobbying; from increased public access to official public records, to new rules and laws ending secret sessions of legislative committees and commissions, the area of governmental and political reform has been one of tremendous progress and reform; and, our start of governmental reorganization fits in here also.

The legislative year was, indeed, a long one.

Rep. Joseph S. Daly

That Man About Town...by MAT

Well, we asked for some action last week in the political contests, and we got some.

Arthur Saul is still unchallenged, as of this writing, for the three-year term of the Board of Selectmen. The one-year spot opened up with John Bullock's resignation is getting to be quite a contest. Papers have been taken out by five men.

One of them, Ron Nigro, currently holds some sort of record for most service on the board without ever winning a race. He was appointed to fill the vacancy when John Billafer resigned and stayed on until George Rugg and Peg Spengler were sworn in. Ron can certainly claim more experience on the board than any other candidate.

Bob Murray, member of the School Committee, has also taken out Selectmen's papers. We hear that a number of people urged Bob to run, feeling that he was concerned about the town and committed to its improvement. He's worked hard on the School Committee and in the town for youth programs.

Arthur Loud has also taken out papers for the one-year term. He's from East Arlington which is not currently represented on the board. (So is Murray.) Traditionally, for whatever the reason, except for Phil Pelligrini the East Arlington candidates have not done well. Loud has been active in town meeting and on the Permanent Building Committee where we hear he has done a good job.

Another candidate who took out papers for the one year spot is Robert Walsh of Dow ave. He's on the Finance Committee now and in the past has been active in town affairs and has previously sought town office.

The fifth candidate is unknown to us, but we hope to get to know him and others better as time passes. He is William Doe of Cutter Hill rd.

The School Committee race hasn't heated up too much. Still the three incumbents, Carey, Cremens and Stein, and Alex Wilson who ran last year. Newcomer to the race this week is Eugene McCarthy—not that one—but we understand this McCarthy is also a teacher.

There's still time for other candidates—deadline is today.

We hear that an observer of the Town Hall scene walked out of the Selectmen's meeting this week shaking his head and asking "Does this happen every week?"

We're sorry to say it does. The Selectmen have now surpassed the record set by the School Committee for the most time and energy expended on nothing. This week, for example, the agenda was completed before 10, which is in itself a record, but then they went on and on and on. The process is something to behold if any of you have a long free Monday night and don't mind taking a chance that you will be bored to death, as undoubtedly must be some of the captive audience—the officials who have to attend the meetings.

The Town Meeting Assn. held its first meeting of the season last Thursday and practically nobody showed up. The boss counted about 15. That's too bad, because a lot of officials and representatives of town employees were there to explain their programs and more are scheduled for future meetings.

The longest presentation was made by a representative of Local 680. We hear he took us and the boss over the coals for coverage of the recent overtime dispute. We have to say, on behalf of the boss, he can't promise that everybody who is quoted in the paper is going to say things readers agree with or like. It's not the boss' job to censor officials and others who are speaking for publication.

Just two quick notes to follow up on last week's column. The Board of Selectmen and the Moderator will meet Feb. 4 to fill the vacancy on the board. Most people we've talked to think Bullock will be named to his own vacancy. The Town Yard Site Selection Committee did decide to wait until the fall to make a final recommendation on moving the yard.

Donovan Resigns

TO THE EDITOR:

A recent rapid increase in my business commitments and an unexpectedly large demand for travel over the next few months have made it clear that I will be unable to devote the amount of time necessary for adequate preparation for and attendance at Town Meeting. Accordingly, I must regretfully resign my seat as Town Meeting Member from Precinct 8.

I am grateful to the voters of Precinct 8 for having given me the opportunity to serve in Town Meeting over the last few years, and I look forward to the day when I will again be able to return to an active role in Town Government.

Sincerely yours,
Francis E. Donovan
35 Academy st.

Object To Program

TO THE EDITOR:

I'm still livid with rage at the farcical program, Mass Reaction, Monday evening on Channel 7. This purportedly presented both sides of the abortion issue fairly. Since I did not see the introductory portion of the show, I can only conjecture that Chuck Scarborough and Barbara Borin were moderators. (My assumption is derived from the fact that they are both Channel 7 News personnel). Barbara's tirades were so vehemently pro-abortion, one could hardly call her impartial. Furthermore, she talked too much, without giving the pro-life views to be given in rebuttal.

Dr. Stanton had substantiated proof that refuted Bill Baird's statement that there were no maternal deaths resulting from legal abortions in the state of New York. In essence, Dr. Stanton was called a liar when his figures were not accepted and indeed even ignored. His proof was contained in a New York Medical Journal.

The proponents of the right to life were cut short or interrupted repeatedly. It was infuriating to me that this show was supposed to be fair and impartially moderated.

I firmly believe that if those who profess to choose life do not do something in an active way (example: write U. S. Representatives and U.S. Senators), then I and the relatively few active members of pro-life groups might just as well be twiddling our thumbs for all the good we are doing. Numbers count and numbers are impressive!

The majority of people in Arlington must favor life over abortion. Since I first started writing my views, I have had only favorable calls and comments except for one anonymous envelope I received containing a pro-abortion newspaper clipping. This is the time to be heard.

I hope I'm not a radical rabble-rouser, but maybe that's what gets response. Maybe I don't come across strongly enough. I feel that our whole way of life is being threatened.

Will you each please examine your conscience and ask yourself if you are glad your mother allowed you to be born? If your answer is yes, then for our country's future and your own freedom, I implore you to write to your congressman:

District 7: Hon. Torbert H. Macdonald, 63 Appleton st., Malden, Mass. 02148.
District 8: Hon. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., 26 Russell st., Cambridge, Mass. 02140.
And Senators (for everyone): Hon. Edward M. Kennedy, 3 Charles River Sq., Boston, Mass., 02114. Hon. Edward W. Brooke, 535 Beacon st., Newton Center, Mass., 02459.

The above are home addresses. Tell them that you are against the Supreme Court ruling liberalizing the abortion laws and that you favor an amendment to the Constitution protecting the Right To Life of the unborn, the aged, the ill and the incapacitated. If we do not protect the right to life of the unborn, then it is only a matter of time before we will be excluding the aged and non-productive members of society from our midst.

Already there are bills before Congress advocating euthanasia. And this I find almost incredible, but it is a fact, that there is a doctor who would legislate that life does not begin until several days after birth, so that any babies determined (by whom?) to be unfit physically or mentally may be left to die.

Doesn't this smack of Nazism? It does to me, and I don't intend to sit by and let it happen. Don't you!! Pick up your pen and paper and write now. Tomorrow may be too late.

Most sincerely,
Irene R. Regan

ACH Orators Win Three Trophies

Ten members of the Arlington Catholic Oratory Club under Sister Ruth, Elizabeth participated in the annual CYO Dramatic Interpretation contest on Saturday and won the first place trophy for the day. The students participated in two categories, oral interpretation and dramatic reading.

Senior Larry Barton won first place in the oral interpretation section with a trophy and certificate. Junior Liz Travers won fourth place in the same category. Both students, besides winning these awards, will represent the Archdiocese of Boston in the National CYO Finals to be held in New Orleans, La. in May.

The team accumulated enough points to win two other trophies, the team trophy for the day, and third place in dramatic reading. Other students participating were: Cindy Kosak, Maureen Donovan, Marybeth Connors, James Deasy, David Danahy, Patty Campbell, Chris Igo, and Eileen Callahan.

The next contest for the speakers is this Saturday when 17 students travel to Masconomet High in Boxford for the annual Snow Festival.

Jaycees To Note National Week; Give Energy Tips

January 20-26 is National Jaycee Week.

The Jaycees is an organization of young men between 18 and 35 who desire to develop their leadership potential and, at the same time, give service to their community.

As a strictly volunteer service organization, the Arlington Jaycees have given their free time in sponsoring petition drives for better government, a kidney van to test persons for possible kidney disease, a Boy Scout troop for exceptional children, and a Special Olympics for retarded children.

The Jaycees invite other young men of Arlington who wish to better themselves and join us in serving our community. For more information call Roger Powers, president, or Paul Miller, membership chairman.

As a public service the Jaycees are circulating some tips on ways to save energy. These ideas include:

Home: Check weather stripping around windows and doors. Keep the thermostat at 68 degrees, not varying it more than 4 or 5 degrees during the day. Lower your thermostat at night when in bed. If room is not being used, shut off the radiator and keep the temperature at a minimum of 55 degrees. Turn off unneeded lights and electrical appliances. Shut off electrical appliances when not in use. When buying electrical appliances, buy appliances with proper amperage.

Automobile: Do not speed over 50 MPH. Accelerate and decelerate smoothly. Maintain proper tire pressure in all of your car tires. Keep your automobile engine tuned. Do not make unnecessary trips. Use common sense.

The deadline for receiving sports copy at The Advocate office is 4 p.m. on Monday.

News From The High Schools

By Larry Barton
Maureen Byrne, Karen Lundstrom

The Arlington Public School Department of Performing Arts will present its 2nd annual "Pops Concert" on Thursday, Jan. 24. This musical production will be held in Arlington High's Lowe Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Ten members of the ACHS Oratory Club under the coaching of Sister Ruth Elizabeth will compete in the annual CYO Oral Interpretation Contest this Sunday at St. Clare's High School in Roslindale.

The team will be performing dramatic readings and poetry. The participants will have the chance to travel to New Orleans, La. in May for the National CYO Finals.

AHS Schedules Job Interviews

The Arlington High School Guidance Department is planning a two-week series of job interviews for high school seniors beginning Jan. 28th and ending Feb. 8th. Many Greater Boston firms will send representatives to the school. Among them are:

Federal Bureau of Investigation (also open to junior students), Federal Reserve Bank, First National Bank of Boston, John Hancock Insurance Co., Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., New England Life Insurance Co., Prudential Insurance Co., State Street Bank and Trust Co., American Mutual Insurance Co., Harvard Trust Co., Continental Insurance Co., Blue Cross - Blue Shield.

These firms not only offer starting positions, but also will help young people continue their education through tuition payment plans while working for the company. A variety of benefits are available beside salary and tuition including health, life insurance, profit sharing (in some places), bonus plans, stock option plans, etc.

The preliminary interviewing done during these two weeks will be followed by in-depth interviews, probably during February vacation. If enough students do not sign up, the series will be cancelled for lack of interest, and students will be forced into competition with all other job-hunters at the time of graduation.

Questions may be directed to Mrs. Rawlings or Mrs. Byam at Ext. 146.

Members of the Arlington High School yearbook staff, headed by editor-in-chief Kathy Lanzillo, have literally been working day and night to meet the deadline dates for this year's book. Without the diligent efforts of these students, the yearbook would not be a success. "The Indian" will be published later in the school year and these students should be commended.

On Jan. 12th, 12 members of the ACHS Classics Club participated in a Winterfest Classics Festival at Wayland High School. The students attending along with moderator Sister Ruth were: Kerry Herlihy, Brian Mazerski, Debbie Larsen, Richard Russo, Kathryn Butler, Elissa Albertelli, Jean Thompson, Jacqueline Sullivan, Lorraine Foley, Kathleen Kenney, Catherine Mullane, and Jean McMahon.

The day's activities included drama, oratorical presentations, slide presentations and an Italian dinner. "The Medea," a classic puppet show, was the finale of the evening presented by Professor Annott of Tufts University.

Other schools participating included Lowell High School, Dana Hall, Marian High and Framingham North High.

Stage I To Give Workshops At ACHS On Monday

On Monday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Stage I will conduct two workshops with over 200 students at Arlington Catholic High School. This will be the fourth time in three years that Stage I has been invited to work with the students.

Each time the workshops have introduced different aspects of acting techniques to the students enabling them to discover creativity within themselves. This time, besides learning techniques which will help them relax with and be aware of their bodies through movement and sound, the students will see a preview of some scenes from "The Arrangers," the play the actors are currently rehearsing which will open in March.

The students will experience a rehearsal in progress, seeing the acting process itself rather than just the product and they will see techniques that they have learned applied to a professional production. Stage I is located at the Boston Center for the Arts, 551 Tremont St.

Peter Gennis, 22 Eustis st., has been named the winner of the annual Bausch and Lomb Science Award at Arlington High. The award is given to the senior student with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects.

Gennis is now eligible to compete for a four-year scholarship given by Bausch and Lomb at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

The Arlington High School Student Council has closed the Senior Lounge for an indefinite period of time. Seniors have been abusing this privilege by destroying furniture, walls and machines. The lounge will remain closed as long as the counselors deem necessary.

The ACHS JV Cheerleaders have been keeping busy at various sports games. Residents Eligible For Flood Insurance At Subsidized Rate

Residents in any area of town are eligible for the subsidized flood insurance for which Arlington recently became eligible.

Planning Director Leo T. Young urges residents in the identified flood-prone areas particularly to take advantage of the insurance. A map in his office shows the four major flooding areas. There are:

-The Mill Brook Valley from the Lexington line to the Lower Mystic Lake between Mass. ave. and Lowell, Bow and Summer sts.

-The area around Spy Pond.

-The area between the Upper and Lower Mystic Lakes.

-The area between Mary st. and Route 2 between Melrose st. and Alewife Brook pkwy. between Teel st. and the parkway, between Sunnyside, Michael and Fremont sts. to the Mystic River and Alewife Brook.

The insurance is subsidized through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Anyone who applies for the insurance within 30 days of Jan. 16 will be accepted immediately. Those who delay will have a 15-day waiting period.

HUD has designated the Commercial Union Insurance Co., 1 Beacon st., Boston, as servicing company for Arlington. Insurance agents may receive forms, rate and other information from this office.

The insurance is available for homes, apartments, businesses and industry. A single family home can be covered up to $35,000. Other property may be covered up to $200,000.

In addition, contents of homes may be insured up to $10,000. Nonresidential contents may be insured up to $100,000. Rates for the coverage vary from 25 cents to 60 cents per hundred dollars of valuation.

Decals Available

Residents who own bicycles and who have had them registered, but have received no plates, may obtain decals in their place at the Arlington police station.

Since the plates are no longer available, those registering their bikes from now on will receive decals instead of plates.

Arlington Girls Win First

The Arlington High School girls' basketball team won its first game of the season defeating Brookline 32-22, but then fell before the powerful Weymouth North entry 75-16.

AHS Beats Waltham, And Weymouth North

The Arlington High School basketball team defeated Weymouth North 78-62 and Waltham 61-46 in action a week ago.

The game with Weymouth was close for three quarters as both teams played good pressure defense.

The teams were tied at 16 at the end of the first quarter and Arlington led 35-32 at half-time behind the shooting of Glenn Fratto.

Arlington increased the lead in the third stanza to lead 51-44. Weymouth North put on a full court press and closed the gap to four points.

Willie O'Brien was fouled twice and hit three of four, and Arlington had the lead back.

Tom Lyons had ten assists while Paul Niles had eight. Steve Tawa and Jerry Jacobs played outstanding defensive games in closing out the Weymouth North high-scoring guards.

Bob Pellegrino led the Arlington scorers with 26 points, Fratto finished with 14, Lyons had 13, Coleman 8, Jacobs and Tawa 6, O'Brien 3 and Pandolfo 2.

Waltham High invaded Arlington with upset in mind and got off to a strong start. After getting off to a 17-12 first period lead, Arlington went cold and was outscored 14-2 during the next six minutes.

The Trojans then spurred and closed the Waltham lead to 34-31 by half-time. Waltham hit eight for eight from the foul line in the second quarter to gain their edge.

The third quarter became a defensive battle as both clubs pressed. Arlington gained the advantage thanks to Tommy Lyons' scoring and moved ahead 42-39 at the end of three quarters.

Waltham was held to five points in the third stanza because of the tenacious Trojan defense.

Arlington found its shooting eye in the final period and its defense held Waltham to only two baskets.

John Pandolfo and Dave Seward paced the defense with their hustling play during this period.

The junior varsity girls were edged by Brookline 16-14 and by Weymouth North 25-18. Sally Kreuz paced the Arlington attack in the win over Brookline with 11 points, while Debbie Patterson had 11 rebounds.

Brookline jumped into the lead, outscoring Arlington 9-8 in the first period, but Arlington came back to tie the score at half-time by a score of 16-16.

AHS continued its eight point a period scoring pace in the third period, while holding the opposition to a single point.

Arlington added three more points to the margin of victory in the final period outscoring Brookline 8-5.

Weymouth North proved to be the strongest team the Arlington girls have met all season. The south shore team jumped into an 18-7 first period lead, outscored Arlington 16-2 in the second period, 16-5 in the third and 25-2 in the final stanza.

Sandy Beaton was high scorer with five points while Debbie Patterson had 10 rebounds.

The Arlington junior varsity team seemed about to run away with an easy victory over Brookline, outscoring the opposition 11-0 in the first period, but the visitors blanked Arlington in the second period while scoring four points. Arlington High held an 11-4 edge at the end of one period of play.

Brookline moved to within one point of a tie in the third period outscoring Arlington by a 7-1 margin. Arlington still held a 12-11 lead at the end of three quarters.

However, Brookline scored four points to two for Arlington in the final quarter of the game to emerge with the victory.

Pam Spencer had five points for Arlington and also had nine rebounds.

The Arlington girls again jumped into a first period lead against Weymouth North by a 6-4 score.

However, North tallied nine points to four for Arlington in the second period and held a 13-10 lead at the end of the first half.

The teams traded points in the third period and Weymouth still held its lead 17-14 going into the final quarter of the game.

North put on a surge in the last stanza of the game to outscore Arlington 8-4 and wrap up the victory.

Pam Spencer was again high scorer with six points, while Nancy McPhee had six rebounds.

AHS plays at Rindge Tech Friday afternoon and hosts Weymouth South, Jan. 29.

Whether children eat the right foods or not, often depends on the emotional climate around the dinner table. Parents who provide good foods and happy talk at the table, will make eating a pleasant part of normal activity for their children. Constant nagging of children often tends to set them against eating, or being sociable. Hurrying, failure to listen - all of these can be detrimental to your child's nutrition.

Pack 310 Meets Friday

On Friday Pack 310 will conduct a mock trial as part of the meeting with real lawyers, a judge and policemen.

At the December meeting badges and awards were given out to George Chitouras, Ernie Ferraro and Robert Costa, athlete pins.

Ernie Ferraro, Chris Pierce, Vincent Batista, two-year pins; George Chitouras, artist pin; Steven Pettingolo received pins—as athlete, craftsman, scholar, traveler and for two years.

Robert Clements got the artist badge; Scott Kirvan the bear badge and gold arrow; Gary Ainsworth, aquanaut pin. For the Christmas party Rosella Gallagher was guest of the pack. Santa was supplied by Rick Lahand. Mr. Battista accompanied the pack on the piano and Mr. Fowler led the singing.

Jason Russell Soc. Plans Activities

The January meeting of the Jason Russell Society, Children of the American Revolution, was held in the Baker home. President Charles Cunningham conducted the meeting. First vice president Susanne Littleton, recording secretary Susan Moore, and registrar Meredith Baker took part in opening ceremonies.

Business included planning a sleigh ride, and a coasting party. Susanne Littleton had prepared two "Birthday Boxes" in which members placed a specified sum for each year of their age; one was a special contribution to St. Mary's Indian School, the other for the renovation of the CAR Museum in Washington, D.C.

It was voted to plan a float for the Patriots' Day Parade. The program was a brief report on the state of the American Indians, their needs and how Indians themselves feel these needs should be met. These needs include the retaining of the small tracts of impoverished land which remain to them, bi-lingual education with a culturally-sensitive curriculum, economic development, job training, and legal aid in water rights and oil lease matters.

The December meeting was a party at the Cunningham home. There was some business that required discussion—the National Merit Award requirements, and the voting of donations to the CAR Museum, board room renovations, the national project, and equipment maintenance.

Guests are always welcome at meetings. Information may be obtained from the senior president, Mrs. Gray C. Trembley.

Pack 305 Meets Today

Stratton School Cub Scout Pack 305 at its December meeting held a year's end rededication ceremony. The impressive ceremonial board was made by den dad, Calvin Kleszics, and the ceremony was conducted by the cubmaster, John Kilban.

All of the Cub Scouts participated in a grand march to benefit the Globe Santa Piano accompaniment for the evening's entertainment was provided by Lawrence Cianciolo Jr. Santa Claus came with grabs for all the children and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

The January meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Stratton School. The meeting will be highlighted by guest speakers Bob Weinstein, Musket District Executive, and Carol Payne, den leader training coach for the Musket District, Minuteman Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The Cub Scouts will participate in a game of "Bombardment." All boys and their parents who are interested in joining Pack 305 are welcome to attend this informative meeting. Refreshments will be served.

HOME DECOR

Rugs are smaller than carpets, and usually not attached to the floor. Usually a rug will cover only a portion of the area on the floor, while a carpet may cover all or almost all of the floor. Generally a carpet is cut to fit the floor space, and it is tacked to the floor for general safety. These days however, it is possible to get plastic holders even for scatter rugs. This makes these rugs safe to walk on, as well as beautiful to look at.

No matter whether you prefer a new rug or carpet come into FRANK DUFFY CARPET CENTER, 965 Mass. Ave., 643-2280 and see our large selection of samples. We carry all the latest decorator styles and colors. If more convenient use our shop-at-home service. Master Charge honored. Open: Mon. - Sat. 9 - 5:30, Fri. till 9:30.

HELPFUL HINT: Always measure room size or size of the area needed, before purchasing a rug.
